Reading

Managing your time better

Read and answer the questions.

Are you doing something every night after class? Are your weekends packed with activities?

Are you behind on your homework? Learning a few key skills for time management can help you get back on track.

First, spend time planning and set goals. Make a "To Do" list that shows the smaller steps needed to reach your goals. This helps break down larger tasks into smaller ones. Next, decide when to work. Make a schedule. What time of day are you at your best? Are you a morning person or a night owl? Plan to do more difficult tasks at that time of day.

Decide on things you don't have to do, and take them off your list. And learn to say "No." It's hard, but it's an important skill. You don't have to accept every invitation. Finally, reward yourself when you've completed a task.

27. How does a "To Do" list help?
   a. It breaks larger tasks into smaller ones.
   b. It shows you when to work.
   c. It sets your goals for you.

28. When making a schedule, what's important to know?
   a. what your difficult tasks are
   b. what time it is
   c. at what time of day you work best
29. What's an important skill to learn?
   a. accepting invitations
   b. rewarding someone
   c. saying "No"

A special neighborhood

Read and answer the questions.

Sharon Wouters lives in a special neighborhood called a cooperative community, or co-op. It's in a small area outside of New York. In the co-op, all the houses are the same size, and everyone shares the work. There are only four streets in the co-op, and everything Sharon needs is right there.

Sharon's house is next to the laundromat. Sharon's parents work there three days a week. Behind the laundromat, there's a grocery store. Sharon works at the grocery store as a cashier twice a week. Her neighbors work at the bookstore café between the grocery store and the post office. Sharon's best friend Marty works at the post office on Saturdays.

All the neighbors work somewhere in the co-op. Sharon loves it because she knows everyone and everyone knows her.

30. Does Sharon leave the co-op to do laundry?
   a. No, the laundromat is next to her house.
   b. Yes, she does laundry at her neighbors' house.
   c. No, she works at the grocery store.

31. Is there a café in the co-op?
   a. Yes, it's behind the grocery store.
   b. Yes, it's next to the laundromat.
   c. Yes, it's next to the post office.

32. Where does Sharon work?
   a. at the laundromat
